

Our Mission:

Sisters in Solidarity (SIS) is a tax-exempt, nonprofit organization that began as a project of Catholic Volunteers in Florida in 2018 and incorporated as a nonprofit in 2023. The purpose of SIS is to provide economic and spiritual support to women on the margins and others through mentoring, coaching, inclusive spiritual community, professional development, and economic self-sufficiency initiatives.

Our Community:

SIS provides mentoring and coaching to a network of women, moms, and allies, including women who have experienced economic instability, grief and loss, trauma, incarceration, racial disparities, and physical and mental health challenges. SIS connects service-year alum and communities of women across Florida with opportunities for spiritual development and economic support, extending the legacy of religious sisters who have dedicated their lives to social, economic and racial justice. Ultimately, SIS aims to form new structures for a shared economy and spiritual community that supports all women called to God's work for justice, regardless of religion, race, marital or economic status.

Our Team:

Valarie Amica and Liz Buckley serve as Co-Founders of SIS and together have 40 years of experience in nonprofit leadership, development, and accounting, as well as volunteer programs, human resources, recruitment, and community organizing. We are looking for start-up investors to help us build SIS.
